MEAT STRIKE TO CONTINUE.

PEACE CONFERENCE ENDS AND MORE MEN TO GO OUT.

Packers Wouldn't Agree to Reinstate All the Strikers-Firemen Now to Go Out After Formal Notice to the Packers -Other Labor Organizations Desirous of Joining In-Slight Increase in the Output of the Stockyards-Troops to Guard St. Paul Plants of Packers.

CHICAGO, July 16 .- Reinstatement of all men who left their places on account of the meat strike proved a stumbling block in the way of peace at a joint conference held between the packers and representatives of the butcher workmen this afternoon. As a result peace negotiations have been declared at an end and it will now be a fight to a finish.

The strike leaders to-day conceded everything the packers asked as to the manner in which the difficulty should be arbitrated. but refused to accept the offer to take the strikers back as fast as possible in the order in which they made application.

While the conference was under way Secretary C. L. Shamp of the International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen and J.W. Morton, president of the local firemen's union, waited to learn the result so that they might be guided thereby in calling out the firemen.

While President Donnelly did not ask the firemen to go out, it was agreed that Secretary Shamp and President Morton should wait on the packers at the earliest moment and give them warning that unless they meet the butchers' proposition the firemen will go on strike.

This ultimatum will be carried to the packers not later than Monday, and it is inderstood that the firemen will give four hours notice before leaving their posts. It is the trump card which the strikers are to play, as the leaders do not believe it advisable to ask any of the other mechanics in the stock yards to join the strike. Some of the unions, however, are more anxious to go out than the firemen and may do so without being asked, unless the representatives of the firemen are able to act as mediators and bring about peace.

hours, and the discussion was heated. The packers said it was the fault of the officers of the union that the strike had been called. President Donnelly replied that through all the negotiations which preceded the strike for six weeks no proposition had been made to the packers.

After accepting the plan of arbitration proposed by the packers, which would permit of a cut in wages, and agreeing to leave everything to impartial arbitration President Donnelly asked if the packers would agree to reinstate all the men now out within seven days after the strike was called off. His original demand set the limit at three days. The packers re-plied that they would not consider such a

WORK GOING ON AT STOCK YABDS. The working conditions were slightly improved at the stock yards to-day, according to the statements of officials. A representative of Nelson Morris & Co. said that there were seventy-five butchers at work in that plant. The number of hogs killed was 450, according to this official. The Armour plant also increased its output a little, it being asserted that 1,000 hogs were killed during the day and over 100 cattle. The receipts at the yards to-day were: Cattle, 1,500; hogs, 6,000; sheep, 3,000. There were sixty-five carloads of dressed beef shipped from the yards yesterday. The average daily shipment in ordinary times parent reluctance early in the day of the firemen to strike without being requested specifically to do so and the reluctance of President Donnelly to make the request. Some time ago the butcher workmen withdrew from all the packing trades councils throughout the West and formed councils of their own, composed of union affiliated with the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen only.

was held in Cincinnati last May. The other unions in the stockyards considered the organizations, and while a friendly feeling has prevailed in Chicago between the butchers and the other trades this feeling does not prevail in some other cities.

The leaders of the other unions say that that the other trades could be of no assistance to them, and now that they are in trouble they will have to ask help before

The packers declared to-day that they were not worried over a possible strike of the firemen. They believe they can secure enough men to keep the fires going, and, even if they cannot, they say the meat in cold storage would keep for a considerable time. The posting of notices around the yards to-day to the effect that the men should stay at home and keep out of trouble had a good result. No violence of any kind was reported, although extra precautions to guard against fire were taken by the fire department. Chief Musham of the fire department reenforced the force within the yards by several engines and hosecarts. This action was taken at the request of the

to-day and another raise is expected on Monday unless the strike is settled in the mean time. The more desirable grades of beef will be hit hardest. Porterhouse steak, now selling at 30 to 32 cents a pound, will jump up to the 35 cent mark. A market advance is also expected on round steaks,

TROOPS TO BE ORDERED OUT. ST. LOUIS HAS MISHAP AT SEA Gov. Van Sant Will Protect Plants of the

Sr. PAUL, Minn., July 16.-The State militia will be ordered out to-morrow or Monday to drive away the strikers at the packing houses. To-day pickets to the number of 500 prevented the Sheriff and his deputies or the managers of Swift & Co.'s packing plant from entering the yards. Gov. Van Sant was appealed to and three companies of militia were placed at the disposal of the Sheriff at the South St. Paul stockyards.

To-night the Sheriff issued a proclamation in which he said the plant would be opened to non-union men on Monday morning at the point of bayonet, if it could be accomplished in no other way. The packing company also announced that it would have an open shop on Monday. Rioting is feared, as the men are in an ugly mood. All the saloons in the district have been ordered closed.

The Mayor of South St. Paul, with his police force, was forced to admit that he is powerless, and to-day turned over the control to the Sheriff, who is about as helpless, and is awaiting the commission of some overt act so that he may summon the militia, which is in waiting.

A telephone message from the Swift packing plant this evening declares that 200 men are in the buildings and are being fed and lodged there, fearing that if they come out they will not be permitted to return. These men were smuggled through the union pickets in refrigerator cars, together with guns for protection against possible riots.

The determination of the packers to resume is shown in letters sent to commission men asking for the usual supply of cattle and hogs for Monday morning.

HARRY NEW FOR SENATOR. Announces His Candidacy for Fairbanks's Seat if Roosevelt Wins.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 16 .- Interest in the contest for the seat in the United States Senate which Mr. Fairbanks will vacate f elected to the Vice-Presidency was heightened to-day by the formal ann ment of the candidacy of Harry S. New, member of the national Republican committee for Indiana and soon to be appointed vice-chairman. Congressman Hemenway is the leading candidate against New and his friends are making a fight to control the convention in this county at which three State Senators and seven Representatives will be cominated. Mr. Hemenway is backed by Senator Fairbanks and Mr. New is said to have the indorsement of President Roosevelt, and it is along these lines that the battle is being waged.

It is said that Capt. New's Senatorial candidacy dates back to Chicago, just after the national convention, when Senator Fairbanks is reported to have told him that in case New was appointed vicechairman of the national committee, Fairbanks would like to have him use his influence in behalf of Hemenway.

Capt. New. it is understood, interpreted this as notice that unless he supported would oppose him for vice-chairman. At any rate, something happened at Chicago which enraged Capt. New and caused him to make a resolution that he would not yield to the Fairbanks machine.

Gov. Durbin has notified his friends that his candidacy must be regarded as subordinate to that of New and at a conference here to-day, which was attended by many who have been supporting the Governor, t was decided to organize all the wards at once and make a vigorous fight to control the convention.

The backers of Congressman Hemenway profess to be able to divide the honors in this county with New, notwithstanding t coalition between the friends of the latter and Gov. Durbin.

ON THE PRESIDENT'S VERANDA.

Notification Speeches Will Be Delivered There to About 100 Listeners.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 16 .- President Roosevelt had no official visitors at his home to-day. He spent the entire day with is family, most of the time out of doors. In the morning he went horseback riding with Mrs. Roosevelt. They passed through the village mounted on fine, large bays. They greeted the people all along the streets. It was the first time Mr. Roosevelt had been downtown since he arrived here two weeks ago. He wore a large Panama hat. Plans have been perfected for the cereof the President here on July 27. The exercises will not be elaborate. About a hundred persons, including the members of the national committee, will attend. Speaker Joseph G. Cannon, chairman of the otification committee, will deliver the committee's announcement, and the Presiden livered on the veranda of the President's ouse, the little assemblage being seated on the lawn. After the exercises the President will entertain the guests at luncheon on the veranda.

NO SUNDAY TRAINS TO ASBURY. Camp Meeting Association Decides to Shu Them Off After To-day.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 16 .- Piqued by Asbury Park and out-of-town newspapers in the controversy over charges of liquor sales in the city, the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association gave notice this afternoon that it would not permit the stopping of Sunday trains at the North Asbury Park station after next Sunday. The notice was given by telephone to an Asbury Park paper just before the time of going to press, and thereafter Dr. Ballard, the executive head of the association, who made the announcement, as well as most of the other members, disap-

The Etruria, in Last Night, Offered Assistance, but This Was Declined-Starboard Engine Disabled by Breaking of Cylinders-Temporary Repairs Made.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. Umbria arrived here to-day and reported that she was in wireless communication last Tuesday with the American Line steamship St. Louis, from Southampton, July 9. The St. Louis reported that she had broken her starboard cylinder and had temporarily repaired it. She was proceeding on her way to New York at a fourteen knot gait.

Word was received at the New York offices of the American Line yesterday of the mishap to the St. Louis. The report said that she had suffered an accident to one of her engines because of the breaking of a low ressure cylinder. It was thought that the damage could be repaired in twenty-four hours. Meanwhile the St. Louis was going inder her other engine at a fourteen knot rate.
The officers of the line here said they thought that the St. Louis would arrive on Monday morning. She has a very heavy first and second cabin list, but her steerage is not as full as it has been on her recent trips. Mrs. Anna Steinmetz of 409 East Fourth street was riding with a friend, Mrs. Elizaoeth Fengsech, on a Fourth street car, near econd avenue, last night, when she complained of feeling ill. Mrs. Fengsech held a whispered consultation with the women in the car. As a result, all the men were asked to get off, the car was stopped and Policeman Fitzgerald of the Fifth street station came up on the run to find out what was wrong. After whispering through the doors of the car, he hastened off to send a call to the Lying-In Hospital. Dr. Prentiss responded to the call, and, after ome time, announced to the crowd outside that it was a girl.

Meanwhile, some one called up Police Headquarters, saying that there had been a bad accident at Fourth street and Second avenue. Headquarters sent for a Bellevue ambulance, and notified Capt. McDermott of the Fifth street station, who turned out the reserves. He arrived just in time to get

There has been some talk at the Union League Club over the apparent refusal of some of the members recently appointed to form the club's campaign committee to serve on that body. At the last meeting to serve on that body. At the last meeting of the club about sixty members were named to make up a campaign committee and the list was posted on the bulletin board. Since the list was hung about half a dozen names have been obliterated by the pasting over them of slips of white paper. The inference is that these men have declined to serve and there has been talk in the club to the effect that the declinations had been sent in by members who are not in sympathy with President Roosevelt. That any Union League member has refused to serve this year has caused some surprise for the reason that Cornelius N. Bliss, the president of the club, is the treasurer of the Republican national committee. No information could be obtained yesterday at the club as to the reasons which led to the declinations. It is understood that three of the number who would not consent to act are William Rooksfeller, Orson D. Munn and Amos F. Eno. It was said yesterday that as soon as Mr. Rockefeller was informed that he had been put on the committee he wrote back asking that his name be removed from the list. Mr. Rockefeller was a member of the committee in both the McKinley campaigns. The defection of the Rookefeller interests will mean the loss of a large contribution to the Republican campaign fund.

Messrs. Rockefeller, Eno and Munn were all away from town yesterday. One member of the club who does not occupy an club about sixty members were

One mem-ber of the club who does not occupy an official position said that it was not unofficial position said that it was not unusual to see pasters on the list of the campaign committee. With so large a committee it was inevitable that there should be some declinations and this had been invariably the case in the past. It was natural that men like Mr. Munn and Mr. Eno should refuse because of their advanced age.

The fact remains, however, that the only duty of the campaign committee is to contribute to the campaign funds of the party and to induce their friends to subscribe

United States military authorities and the striking packing house employees came near clashing here to-day, and it became necessary for a detail of soldiers to accompany a meat supply wagon from Armours' through the ranks of the pickets.

During the morning one of the government wagons drew up before the packing house for the weekly supply of meat for Fort Crook. While this was being loaded strike pickets appeared and forced the driver to move on without his supplies.

An hour later the driver returned, and with him came a squad of United States soldiers with their rifies. The meat was loaded without molestation and the wagon

The Transfer company employs 300 drivers and helpers. All the drivers are members of Local 645 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. They have been working under an agreement which expires on July 31.

The local presented last week a new con-tract asking for an increase of 10 per cent. in the drivers' wages. This the company refused to sign, telling Thomas Prandon, the walking delegate of the union, that if they agreed to the increase all profit would be eaten up.

The men called a meeting for Thursday night and decided not to go out. Since then the discontented ones have been at work and yesterday afternoon Prandon decided that he could hold them no longer and called the men out. The company has four stables, the largest

Charles C. Rogers Meets With a Mortal Accident in Farmington, Conn.

HARTFORD, Conn., July 16.-Charles C Rogers, a Chicago and New York printer, s dying to-day of a fractured skull in the Elm Tree Inn. Farmington, the result of a motor car accident in that town. Mr. Rogers sustained a fracture extending across the forehead. Specialists are being rushed from New York to perform an operation. W. G. Murray of Chicago, Louis Casswell of Cleveland and Mechanic E. H. Wienpfhiemer of Chicago escaped with slight injuries. The car was running at about ten miles an hour, according to William C. Thorne of Chicago, who followed in a second car about a quarter of a mile in the rear. The car's rear wheels are said to have skidded on an abandoned trolley track between Plainville and Farmington a big tree being hit before the car could be straightened out.

PARKER INVITES C. F. MURPHY.

TAMMANY LEADER TO LUNCH WITH HIM AT ESOPUS.

Reports That Senator McCarren Was Going to Ignore Mr. Murphy in the State Campaign Disturbed the Candidate and He Will Not Countenance It Judge Parker is reported to be considerably disturbed over a report printed yesterday that Senator Pat McCarren, who is to have charge of the Democratic State headquarters in this city, intends to ignore Charles F. Murphy in the running f the State end of the campaign in this city. A friend of Judge Parker who came back from Esopus last night said that Judge Parker would not countenance any attempt to humiliate Mr. Murphy, not only because he knew that to carry the State next November it would be necessary to have the aid of Tammany, but because he believed that Mr. Murphy was sincere when he said after the result at St. Louis that Tammany would loyally and faithfully upport the choice of the convention.

For that reason Judge Parker had no sconer heard of the report which was published here yesterday regarding Mr. McCarren's reported intentions than he telegraphed to Mount Clemens, Mich., where Mr. Murphy is staying, asking the Tammany leader to come to luncheon as early as possible after he got back to town. Mr. Murphy replied in the afternoon that he would cut short the two weeks stay at Mount Clemens he had planned and would be back in New York not later than next Thursday, and hasten to accept Judge Parker's inviinformation was obtained last night it was learned that Judge Parker will assure Mr Murphy that he will not permit Mr. McCarren or any other of the men who will have charge of the campaign in this city to do anything that will either antagonize or belittle Mr. Murphy. Judge Parker, it was stated, will even go further than this and will tell Mr. Murphy that in the event of his election Tammany will receive a commensurate share of recognition in the matter of Federal patronage. As a response to these assurances all that Mr. Murphy will be asked to promise is that he will not endanger the prospects of the Democratio party in the State by continuing his personal warfare on Senaor McCarren until after the election.

GORMAN WON'T TAKE IT. Priends of the Senator Say He Has Declined to Be National Chairman.

BALTIMORE, July 16 .- The Maryland Democratic leaders take little interest in despatches from Esopus indicating that Senator Gorman may be selected as national chairman to take charge of the campaign for Parker and Davis. They feel assured that the Senator has already declined the place, on account of his health and the disinglination for arduous labor consequent to his advancing years.

A man whose authority to speak for Mr. Gorman no one will question, said to-day:
"You can say most positively that under no circumstances will Mr. Gorman accept the national chairmanship. He will take the most active interest in the campaign and will give all the assistance in his power, by advice or otherwise, but he cannot think and pickpockets, who have gathered here of assuming the whole burden of responwork incident to the chairmanship. Woman Plunges Inte a River and Rescue a Man and Two Girls.

SOUTH YARMOUTH, Mass., July 16 .-- Miss Catherine Callaghan of Boston, alone and unaided, last night saved from drowning B. F. Wildes, a summer resident, and two young women who are in the employ of Dr. Durrell and Judge McKim.

The girls had gone in bathing at Bass River in front of Mr. Wilden's cottage, and he sat on the veranda watching them. The tide was running swiftly down stream, but the young women, unconscious of the danger, struck out into the current, which soon forced them away from shore. They screamed frantically for help, and Mr. Wildes went to their aid. He endeavored to pull them ashore, but they clutched him in such a way as to render him helpless, and the three were drowning when Miss Callaghan went in after them. Being a strong swimmer, she soon dragged them

Washington of Tuskegee Institute is coming to Virginia to stump the State for Roosevelt is a current report, which finds general belief among the mass of the negroes. Nothing official, however, has been heard from Washington himself and those who know him best say that it would be contrary to his policy to mix in politics. It is known that he is heartily in favor of the reelection of Mr. Roosevelt, but fears influence for good will be weakened if he should take the stump.

THREW RUNAWAY HORSE. Roundsman Bolan Clasped Animal's Neck

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 16.—The mine workers convention adjourned this afternoon, after giving the executive board power to declare a strike at the collieries of all the companies in the Lackawanna and Wyoming districts where the operators failed to pay the check weighmen and the check docking bosses in the manner prescribed by the strike commission.

The only company to de this in the region is the Lackawanna, while the Scrunton Coal Company this week agreed it would also do it. Some of the other companies have put the rule in force at a few collieries. Now a general demand will be made at all collieries where this rule has not been followed, and if it is not enforced a strike will follow.

Chappagua Gets a Wild Western Experience.

A BIG WATERSPOUT, TOO.

The Latter Sucks Bare Part of the Hudson's Bed.

One Person Killed and Several Injured Opposing Wind Currents Meet Over Chappagua and Day Is Turned to Night -Buildings in Chappaqua Go Down Like Houses of Cards. The Water. spout Destroys a Wharf at Nyack. -Chappagua Firemen and Doctors Turn Out to Rescue and Ald the Injured.

A tornado with a waterspout attachment made mischief yesterday afternoon on the Hudson River and at Chappagua. No reports of it were heard from the north Jersey shore, and its westernmost appearance was when it began to suck up water from the river opposite Ossining. The weather had been lowering in the middle of the afternoon, with a brisk wind driving the black clouds furiously, but no rain fell. Suddenly the waterspout, apparently fifty feet in diameter, appeared, and rising high in the air in funnel shape it swept west across the river to the upper Nyack shore. People along shore say the volume of water was so great that it bared the river oottom for a long distance.

A large new wharf building, at the summ home of Joseph Hilton, at Upper Nyack, was swept away, and pieces of boards and timbers were whirled off through the air. The waterspout rushed through Crumbie's Glen, tearing away a number of trees, but after it struck the land it soon broke, the water falling in large volume. People for miles along the lower Hudson watched the waterspout from the time it formed until it broke and disappeared.

Chappaqua, which lies in a valley, was hit at 3:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon. For half an hour before the storm burst, the people of the town knew that something was going to happen. Heavy, swirling dark clouds from the southwest and north east travelled rapidly toward each meeting over the northeast corner of the

The currents carried along with them great clouds of dust. The currents met, it is asserted, with a crash like a clap of thunder, Then there was the sound of falling walls and crashing timbers.

Five houses were rased and a great numper of barns and outbuildings were demolished. The air currents seemed to meet aimost over the house of Mrs. Anna Washburn, in which were Mrs. Washburn and her mother, Mrs. Hibbs of Philadelphia, who was paying her daughter a visit. Mrs Hibbs was 80 years old.

The building went down like a house of cards and Mrs. Hibbs was killed by fal timbers. Mrs. Washburn was seriously injured. The other injured in Chappa were: Warren Tompkins, Walter Mrs. Hester Cox, Cyrus Dodge and Mrs. Martha Morrow. Miss Mattle Morrow, daughter of Robert

Morrow, a capitalist, was in her father's house when it was blown down, She was rescued by a party of neighbors after having two ribs broken by fallen-timbers. She is also internally injured and may

Cyrus Dodge, a farmer, rushed out to attend to his cattle when he saw the storm coming. As he was returning from the barn to the house a large apple tree fall upon him and pinned him to the grond. He remained under the tree until the storm blew over, when his son, James, heard his cries for help and went to his assistance The son was unable to remove the tree and had to get an axe to out it eway. Mr

Dodge is suffering from internal injuries. Chappaqua is located thirty-three miles from New York, in a valley which formed a pathway for the storm. The first indicaion of the tornado was a big, black of which was first noticed by the residents shortly after 3-o'clock. It hung over the place like a parachute and finelly burst at the meeting of the currents, the town was in complete darkness and a terrific wind raged while the rain and hall fell in torrents. Hailstones an inch and a half in diameter fell. The townspeople became terrified. Many rushed from their houses and threw themselves flat on the ground. The storm passed over them as they lay there. Few of them were

The people of Mount Rises, five miles away, thought that Chappaqua was being wiped out, and scores of them drove to the scene of the disaster. All of the houses that were blown down were two and a half story frame buildings. Mrs. Washburn's house, which stood opposite the famous Quaker meeting place, was the first to fall. It was lifted from its foundation and turned completely over. Mrs. Washburn, who is a school teacher, felt the house sway and, grasping her aged mother in her arms, attempted to get out. Before they resched the door the house was hit on the west side and down it went.

Mrs. Washburn jumped through the door into the yard and escaped with slight injuries. Her mother, who was feeble, was struck by falling timbers and buried peneath them. A rescuing party remove her dead body to the home of Mrs. Hannah

A few minutes later and crash on crash told of the destruction of other buildings. The houses of Walter Saries, a carpenter, and Warren Tompkins, a farmer; Hester Cox's boarding house, and the home of Robert Morrow, all within a radius of half a mile, went down. Mr. Sarles, with his wife and children, were at Ossiaing. When they returned later in the aftermoon their home was in ruins.

Mrs. Cox was in her house with a boarder of the name of Jonas Graff when the house went down. She and Graff were caught in the wreck. They received only slight
